To-day's Schedule.

New York in St. Louis. Philadelphia in Detroit. Boston in Chicago. Washington in Cleveland.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The New Yorks to-day grabbed the last game of their series with the White Sox, 3 to 2. They were compelled to go twelve innings, but little cared they. Their train didn't leave for St. Louis until 11 o'clock and they were in no hurry. And they did need the

The wonderful pitching of Ray Keating was a big factor in the game. He went from start to finish, and while he was a bit wabbly at times he tightened. He worked that system throughout the game. He was there with the necessary stuff when he got in a hole. Take the eighth inning for instance. The Sox filled the bases with none out and the score a tie. With Bodie and Collins coming up it looked like a Chicago victory. But Keat-ing didn't permit a man to get across. Hartzell made victory possible and at that he didn't have the pleasure of scoring the run that won. He opened the twelfth with a single to Weaver and hustled to

The New Yorks tied the score in the fourth. With one out both Hartzell and Peckinpaugh singled. They put through a double steal and Knight shot a double along the left foul line. That made it two and two, but Knight was nailed trying to steal third. Both Keating and Benz ettled down and it was a real fight the of the Cardinals have made a final proposition to Manager Mc-Graw of the Giants. McGraw can have Konetchy, the crack first baseman, if he will turn over Merkle, Herzog, Wiltee and another player to Miller Huggins. McGraw can afford to stand pat, but it will not be surprising if a deal is arranged before the Cardinals go West. If so the Giants involved would receive a share of the world's series prize money only through the generosity of their old team mates. With Konetchy in the lineup, the Giants would present a solid front in the clash with the Athletics.

Montreal Might Have Gotten Big Money for Fielder, but Stuck for $10,000.

Baseball men who are conversant with inside facts are supporting Manager Joe Tinker of the Cincinnati Reds in his con-Tinker of the Cincinnati Reds in his controversy with Owner August Herrmann. These facts were related to THE SUN man yesterday by friends of Tinker, who said that it was advisable to let the truth be known now while the iron is hot. The cases of Almelda, the Cuban infielder, and Second Baseman Dick Egan are at the bottom of the trouble between manager and magnate. Almeida, it appears, was sold outright to the Montreal club without Tinker's sanction. Tinker, it is shown, might have made a deal with Montreal by which he could have secured in exchange for the Cuban either Outfielder Gilhooley or Catcher Burns.

Egan, also a good player, who would be a star in the minors and for whom a beneficial trade might be made with a club in either the American Association club in either the American Association or the International League, is not to be used for that purpose, so the story goes. The Cincinnati club, overruing Tinker, has obtained waivers on Egan from all National League clubs and is now trying to sell his release to an American League clubs not the New Yorks, who have no

In the opinion of practical men identi-fied with organized ball the clash be-tween Tinker and Herrmann is unfor-tunate. Incidentally the belief is preva-lent that the Reds will have another

Because Owner Lichtenheim of the Montreal club refused to sell Outfielder Gilhooley for less than $10,000 it is reported that several major league clubs that were trying to buy this young star have mutually agreed to withdraw their offers and to file drafts for him when the drafting period opens on September 15. Lichtenheim could have sold Gilhooley for $5,000 cash and two major league players if he had regarded with favor the offer of a certain magnate. Appraisers of minor league baseball talent decided that $10,000 was exhorbitant.

The surprising loyalty of New York fans in their support of the Chancemen at the box office is due to the interest shown in the P. L.'s task of building up a winner. No tail end major league club ever received such liberal patronage at home. Starting with practically nothing ever received such liberal patronage at home. Starting with practically nothing. Chance gradually has strengthened various positions until now he is well satisfied with the outlook. The New Yorks are playing much better ball than during the first two months of the campaign, and the end is not yet. Southpaw Aitchison of the Newarks, who will report to the Brooklyns next week, has won twenty-one games and lost four in the International League, including last Thursday's victory over the Rochesters. Aitchison has a bewildering Rochesters. Aitchison has a bewildering curve ball and excellent control, but there seems to be some doubt as to his speed. Close observers insist that he lacks a fast ball, which all first class boxmen must possess. The Brooklyn club, which has refused $15,000 for Aitchison, got him from the Kansas City club three years ago. He made a record of seventeen victories and seven defeats in the Bouthern Association last year. Aitchison is a 45 seconds. Henri St. Yves was second powerfully built fellow, 24 years old-and John Cox third. Cox allowed the Newark fans already are mourning over Newark fans already are mourning over | field two laps.

The difference between Wolverton and Chance is this: Wolverton when he assumed the management of the New Yorks last year continually declared that the team would finish in the first division. When Chance took hold of the material Wolverton left behind he quickly informed his employer that he had a minor league outfit and could not hope for a winner unless wholesale changes were made.

Joe Jackson, after watching Roger Peckinpaugh in action recently, declared that the Naps had made a grievous error in letting Peck get away. The shoeless one added that in his opinion Peckinpaugh had developed into the best shortstop in the American League. Peck is only 23 years old and Chance expects him to be a star all around man next season

This will be the last week for the purchase of minor league players by the big league clubs. While most of the best men have been snapped up, several other important transactions are looked for. There will be a wild scramble for talent when the major leaguers gather in Cincinnation September 15 for the filing of drafts.

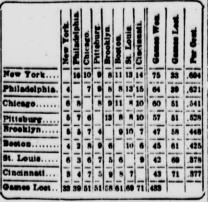

Bill Collins, the Newark outfielder who has been secured by the Dodgers, will supplant Moran in right field this week. Collins is a right handed batsman and a fleet base runner. If Dahlen hadn't landed him a dozen clubs would have put in drafts for him. Pitcher Pfeffer of the Grand Rapids team will report to Dahlen in a day or two.

The Dodgers and Cardinals will play another double header at Ebbets Field this afternoon. Reulbach and Rucker probably will occupy the box for the Brooklyns. Rucker, after a rest, showed much of his old form in the last two innings of the fourteen inning draw on Friday. Rucker has not been himself since he dislocated his left thumb nearly two months ago. Some of the critics believe that he will never regain his speed, but will have to depend almost entirely on headwork.

Boxing Commission to Be Asked to Allow Colored Men to Meet Whites.

LANGFORD AFTER GUNBOA'

If Tar Baby Beats Jeannette He Wants to Tackle Smith in Garden.

With Jack Johnson permanently out of the country, the State Athletic Commission, it is reported, soon will vote to rescind the rule prohibiting bouts between negroes and white men. Persons who have studied the rule from a legal point of view say that if a colored boxer, thus debarred, should appeal to the courts he would stand an excellent chance of getting a verdict in his favor. The commissioners passed the rule to prevent the appearance of Johnson in a contest with a sioners passed the rule to prevent the appearance of Johnson in a contest with a white heavyweight simply for the reason that the negro champion's moral status was objectionable. There was no intention to offend the colored citizens of this community, it is said.

Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette, colored heavyweights, are extremely popular with the American boxing public. Their habits are exemplary and both are drawing cards. For that reason the Garden A. C. has arranged a ten round bout for them to be decided next month, the idea being to match the winner with Gunboat Smith, who has laid claim to the white hope title. But before such a bout can be arranged, the State commission must take action and it is understood that the Garden A. C. will ask to have the rule revoked against mixed contests. Smith Garden A. C. will ask to have the rule revoked against mixed contests. Smith and his manager have expressed a desire to box Langford, and the Tar Baby, cosfident of defeating Jeannette, is eager to sign articles. The Gunboat's argument that he could accomplish more in a twenty round bout with Langford on the Coast than in a battle half as long in this city will not hold water, sporting men. city will not hold water, sporting men say, so that if the commission allows a ten round bout Smith will be placed on the defensive.

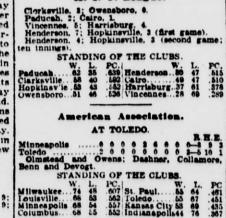

Meanwhile Smith and his manager are hard pressed by Tom O'Rourke, who looks afer the affairs of Al Palzer. O'Rourke hard pressed by Tom O'Rourke, who looks afer the affairs of Al Palzer. O'Rourke has been vainly trying to arrange a match with the Gunboat ever since the latter stopped Jim Flynn. Smith's manager has insisted that Palzer, in order to secure the bout, must first knock out Frank Moran when they meet at the St. Nicholas A. C. on September 3. O'Rourke, in a tart reply to this stipulation, points to the fact that Smith failed to stop Moran in twenty rounds on the Coast last winter and made such a poor showing that he was roundly scored by the California fight critics. Smith not only couldn't put Moran away but he was lucky to earn a decision on points in a twenty round battle with Jess Willard. For that reason O'Rourke argues that in whipping such men as Bombardier Wells, Rodel and Flynn, the Gunboat didn't accomplish anything particularly wonderful. Palzer and Smith would prove a strong card and there seems to be no valid reason why the bout should not be arranged.

Unless an unexpected hitch occurs Jack Britton, the clever Chicago lightweight, will meet Young Joe Shugrue of Jersey City in Madison Square Garden the first week of next month. Matchmaker Gibson has been angling for this match for several weeks, with the result that a tentitive agreement has been reached by the boxers' managers. Another card on the same night will be a clash between the star bantams Kid Williams of Baltimore and Frankie Burns, also of Jersey City.

week after a long vacation in Chicago. McFarland is planning a busy campaign in the ring for the coming fall and winter. He is anxious to box Tommy Murphy, Willie Ritchie, Freddie Welsh and other Willie Ritchie, Freddie Welsh and other leading lightweights. If Murphy is willing to box in September McFarland will make a special weight limit for him, perhaps 134 pounds at 4 o'clock. Packy argues that there should be no further objections to him as a lightweight. He points to the fact that Ritchie, the world's champion boxed Rivers recently at 134 instance. to the fact that Ritchie, the world's cham-pion, boxed Rivers recently at 134 instead of 133 pounds, which upset the weight limit fixed by Battling Nelson and subsequently observed by Ad Wolgast. McFarland de-clares that Ritchie cannot compel him to do 133 in view of the precedent the cham-pion established in the Rivers affair. If Welsh happens to earn the referee's de-cision over Ritchie at Vancouver on Labor cision over Ritchie at Vancouver on Labor Day, McFarland says he will camp on the Briton's trail for the purpose of gaining the world's title.

What has become of Bill Papke? He came home from Europe last spring smarting under a defeat handed to him by Frank Klaus and breathing vengeance. When Klaus returned to American soil Papke went west and hasnt said a word since. Perhaps he has concluded to quit the ring.
